Overcoming evil

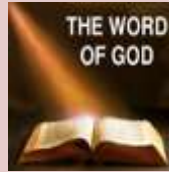

A thread running through today's readings is about the threat of evil in human existence. The Genesis text deals with the origin of evil—it comes both from outside man (as the Serpent-Tempter) and also from within. The human condition with its experience of disharmony in human relationships and in our relationship with God is presented as a fall from the ideal, and this disharmony, which is the essence of evil, is the result of sin. The homilist might develop the notion of evil from contemporary examples — eg. of political and social discord fragmenting societies with oppression and violent revolution, disharmony in family life, and the resulting chain reaction of bitter responses. Just as in the case of Adam and Eve, sin is never a private affair; it always has social implications, for others are affected. On this theme of disharmony, the parable of Jesus takes on a resonance that was not intended; a house divided cannot stand.

The Gospel provides a way forward. What was hinted at in Genesis came to its full revelation in the ministry of Jesus. What he revealed in action was God's power restoring creation — healing women and men and making them whole again. From here on our humankind is no longer left on its own in a hopeless struggle against evil. It is now possible for us to share in the new creation, if we belong to Christ. Still, there is nothing overwhelming about the presence of God in Jesus, as we can see from the cynical reaction of the scribes to him. Pride, the desire to make oneself the arbiter of all that is good, motivates them to see in Jesus not the visible power of the Spirit of God, but a trick of the devil. What seemed to be good they could not deny but only reinterpret, in order to hold on to their own fixed position. Such a closed mentality merits the censure of Jesus; he reminds us that we must be ready to see God's goodness in unexpected places. Our road back to the new creation involves true openness and humility. It is a journey that does not involve positions of guaranteed privilege. Even the blood relatives of Jesus have no special standing in the kingdom. To belong to Jesus is equally open to all; the only condition is our readiness to commit oneself to doing the Father's will. This was the commitment that Adam and Eve failed to make but which is opened up to us in Christ.

*May your words, O Lord be on my lips and in my heart.
May they guide me on life's journey and keep me near to you.*

The Human Wisdom of St Thomas Aquinas

The human will can be protected from sin only when the reason is preserved from ignorance and error.

Prayer Intentions for this week

Adoremus Bulletin is a liturgical journal which features informative articles, news reports and opinion on the liturgy. There are interesting articles on Pushing the Liturgical Limits: Becoming God, A Reflection on the Liturgy of the Hours and the present moment and Pop Quiz. Please pick up a free copy of the Bulletin from the table in the foyer of the church and have a read.

Our Lord calls each of us to share what we have. He tells us, “Much will be required of the person entrusted with much and even more will be demanded of the person entrusted with more.” (Luke 12:48). In 2010, Archbishop Robert Carlson asked Catholics to pray one simple prayer. “Lord, what do You want me to do with all the gifts You have given to me?”

While our Parish community remains supportive and vibrant, we must recognise the need for support in our community to use the gifts we have been graced with to build up the Kingdom of God. What we have achieved to date has been by the grace of God and through your financial generosity, you the parishioners of St Joseph Pignatelli.

In order to balance our parish budget every year we rely heavily on the generous gifts that come to us through the Planned Giving Program. Your weekly Offertory gifts help us manage our operating budget when bills are high and unexpected costs arise.

If you participate in our Planned Giving Program using weekly envelopes, the envelopes for the next financial year are ready for collection in the foyer of the Church. We greatly appreciate parishioners who choose to give electronically, as it helps us maintain a consistent cash flow and pay our bills in a timely manner. If you prefer to use this method of payment, please fill in a form available in the church foyer or contact the Parish Office and your payment will be processed.

If you would like to join our Planned Giving Program, please complete a form available in the church foyer and return the form to the parish office or Email attadale@perthcatholic.org.au.

Planned Giving statements are being sent out this week. If you do not receive your statement, and would like to have one, please contact the Parish Office.

I would like to take this opportunity to sincerely thank you for your generosity and financial support for the year 2023/2024. I hope with your help we can continue the good work of the Church for the future. God bless you all for your generosity.

Pax Christi Fr Don Kettle

New Archdiocesan Safeguarding Policy An updated Screening and Monitoring Policy has been approved by the Archbishop. It extends screening requirements. We are required to comply / complete all requirements by 1st August 2024. ALL church workers - in ANY ROLE - (paid or voluntary) are required to: attend a 1-hour safeguarding induction (if you have not done so in the last three years) AND sign a Safeguarding Personal Declaration form (once only). Some roles will also require a Working With Children card, and a Volunteer National Police Clearance (in a few cases), Our Safeguarding Officers will contact parishioners in roles requiring the higher screening levels. A full list of Safeguarding Induction Training options (online and in person) can be found here: <https://safeguarding.perthcatholic.org.au/training/>

Old Church and Land use The lessee of the old church building and land, The Schools of Early Learning (SOEL), commenced on site on 24th September 2023 to refurbish and extend the old church and prepare the site for a Childcare Centre. Work has progressed well with good communication with the Mel Maria Primary School and the parish. SOEL plan to open the centre for operations on 1st July 2024 and lease payments are payable from this date. This is a good result for the parish as it helps to pay the outstanding debt for the completion of the New Church. SOEL is having an Open Day on Saturday 27th July 2024 from 10.00am to 2.00pm and invite all members of our parish community to come and explore the refurbished space.
